DIVERSE & CONNECTED

Situated in Digbeth on the corner of Coventry and Oxford Street, The Walker Building is ideally placed within one of Birmingham's most diverse and vibrant regeneration areas, located just a two minute walk away from the soon-to-be BBC broadcast centre.

Part of Our Future City Plan (OFCP), the area will see a major transformation to include additional trees, further street lighting, enhanced walking and cycle routes, as well as the arrival of the new Eastside metro extension in 2025.

Grand Central and The Bullring shopping centre are also located close by, providing occupiers with an unrivalled retail and leisure offering, whilst Birmingham New Street and Moor Street railway stations are also within easy walking distance.

STYLE & CHARACTER

Built in 1911 for nautical instrument inventors Thomas Walker & Son, The Walker Building is an inspirational and dynamic working environment with the fabric of ambition and entrepreneurial spirit ingrained throughout.

Set across two interconnected buildings, the Grade II listed former factory is accessed via a central courtyard, with a striking light-filled atrium leading to stylish workspaces from 267 – 2,971 sq ft.

Original features are in abundance as you navigate the space, with exposed interiors, high ceilings and authentic tiling details throughout. Additional building benefits include sheltered cycle storage and shower facilities for the active commuter, as well as onsite car parking with additional electric vehicle charging points.
